Maryland State College
Branch of the University of Maryland
Princess Anne, Maryland

"PROUDLY WE HAIL"

Today, after a dozen years of sacrificial labors, a man of unshaken faith and courage is bringing a vision into reality. The man: Dr. John Taylor Williams; the faith: that the vision could become a reality; the vision: that Princess Anne College could grow into a seat of learning with a range of services for the maximum benefit of students seeking to prepare themselves for constructive living in the important remaining years of the twentieth century. To keep his vision unclouded and steady, the man visualized harmonious physical surroundings of comfort and beauty as the right of college generations present and to come; for spacious ivy-covered buildings are the temples of learning. More significantly, he dreamed of bringing together an assemblage of learned men and women — priests and priestesses of the temples — to inspire and lead students at the newly called "Maryland State College."

The students of Maryland State College hail proudly the accomplishments born of this man's dream: Increasing opportunities for worthy and needy students to receive aid; fabled achievements in athletics and public relations; a brilliant faculty whose standards of scholarship are high; a campus whose beauty and conveniences increase steadily; and a true community of teachers and students in a bond of togetherness found only in places where struggles have become victories.

Gratitude is the companion of the pride in these accomplishments, and to express it in humble measure, the students of Maryland State College dedicate their first yearbook to the man whose work, courage, and faith in a vision are bringing into realization the growth of their Alma Mater in strength and honor:

Foreword

The outstanding service of a "yearbook" to an educational institution is the recording of a contemporary history to delight and inform the sharers of a common tradition. Such record must rest upon the existence of a tradition whose beginnings have been laid by founders possessed of vision and faith, by teachers possessed of knowledge and ideals, by administrators possessed of hope and dedication. Such establishment is no easy task; neither is the preservation of the tradition; neither is its transmission. Students and teachers share equally in the preservation and the transmission of our heritage.

Our Dr. Augustus Low, interested in the discovery and preservation of the past history of Maryland State College, is responsible for our knowing our Founders, the names and dates of our buildings, the name of the Oldest Living Graduate — a multitude of facts forming the warp and woof of the past. Into the history of our past he has woven the patterns of the lives of the outstanding men and women, both students and teachers, who have made our philosophy, developed our departments of study, developed our entire institution.

As our first yearbook becomes history, the editors express gratitude for Dr. Low's preservation of the past and thus the preservation of cherished traditions, and at the same time they offer this yearbook in the service of the contemporary history of Maryland State College.

The George E. C. Hayes Student Loan Fund was established in 1957 to fill a felt need. The Student Loan Fund Committee, comprised of upper-level students, is charged, under faculty advisorship, with the basic operation of the fund.

The operating goal of $5,000, as set by the President of Maryland State College, was exceeded this year. The following sources accounted for the aggregate total: contributions from students, faculty and staff members, other individuals, campus organizations, off-campus organizations, profitable enterprises, and savings-account investment.

The purpose of the Fund is to aid worthy students in their efforts to negotiate specified, minor financial barriers which tend to interfere with the educational objective. Short-term loans, based on stipulated minimum and maximum amounts for limited needs, characterize the aid rendered by the Fund.

The ROTC Cadet Corps extends a greeting to the members and friends of Maryland State College. The ROTC Department since coming to the campus in 1950, has seen many changes. With each successive change of personnel, there have been corresponding improvements so that Maryland State College now has one of the most efficient units in this area. The unit is conducted almost entirely by the Cadet Officers with the supervision of Air Force Instructors. Cadet Officers are incorporated into the Benjamin O. Davis Squadron of the Arnold Air Society — the National Association of ROTC Cadet Officers. In addition are the activities of the Drill Team and Angel Flight. The Angel Flight is composed of women who support the ROTC and assist it in carrying out its activities. The Angel Flight also performs at Half-Time Ceremonies at football games — marching individually and with the Drill Team. The Drill Team participates at football games, parades and other activities all over the Eastern Shore, enrapturing the public with their formations and maneuvers.

Activities of each year end with Military Day — usually held the first of May. On Military Day, the public is invited to Open House and to witness what the Cadet Corps members have earned. There are contests, displays, awards, and visiting dignitaries. Military Day ends with the Military Ball at which Cadets appear in formal Dress Uniform and their women guests wear formal gowns. Attending the Ball is the goal of Cadets through each ROTC Year.

The Delcon Hall Story

Newspaper headlines on February 2 read:

"Princess Anne, Maryland, February 1 — Scientifically controlled inferno, this crisp, near cloudless, Sunday morning began reducing Delcon Hall, sixty-seven year old (condemned) wooden structure, to glowing embers and hot ashes while over two thousand spectators looked on with mixed emotions."

The building referred to as DELCON HALL was not in reality, one building but two buildings, ELIZA SMITH Hall and DELCON Hall.

Eliza Smith Hall, the older of the two buildings, was erected in the year of 1892, as a charitable expression by Mr. Dexter Smith of Springfield, Massachusetts in memory of his daughter, Eliza. The approximate cost of this 30-room, 4-story structure, in 1892 was approximately $3,500.

This structure has served its day and many generations in numerous useful helpful ways. It was originally built to house women students. Instructional requirements demanded its first floor space to accommodate the home economics department; a sewing laboratory on the east side of the hall and a foods laboratory on the west side.

This requirement robbed Eliza Smith Hall of eight of its dormitory rooms, and housing was a problem. After a few years of crowded living, the Delaware Conference of the Methodist Church, came to the rescue of its Academy by appropriating approximately $8,000 for the building of a new dormitory for women students. With student labor Delcon Hall was erected and occupied in 1915; a 4-story, 44-room, full basement building with its individual heating system. This addition relieved the crowded living environment of the women students and made possible the admission of more. Delcon Hall received its name from the name of the Conference, which at that time was its chief sponsor, DEL from "Delaware," CON from "conference."

Near the end of the spring semester of 1943, Murphy Hall, a new dormitory for women was completed and the ladies left these now aging premises for more modern facilities and the men students were moved from their improvised housing areas to the Delcon Hall unit. At the same time the Eliza Smith Hall served as quarters for faculty apartments and rooms.

Somerset Hall, a dormitory for men, was completed in 1949, and many of the men students moved to the new dormitory. The first two stories of Delcon Hall were still used for regular housing, and the third story was used to house visiting teams.

At the opening of the fall semester, 1950, Harford Hall was opened to satisfy student housing, and Delcon Hall was renovated to accommodate faculty families and single faculty and staff members.

In 1948 a shift was made in housing on the first floor of the Eliza Smith Hall, in order to accommodate the Music Department and this Music Department, with its facilities and activities, added warmth and gaiety for Eliza Smith Hall's last days.

For those like Mr. Waldo Kiah, the author of this story, who call this their home, and who have travelled at Maryland State College for an extensive period, there was a feeling of remorse as flames ate into the vitals of a once stalwart frame. "To see her succumb to the torrid fury of raging flames could not be called a moment of glee."

Her frame went up in flame and smoke, but the memories and history of the service rendered will ever be an indestructible shrine in the hearts and minds of many men and women. Paraphrasing a portion of our former Alma Mater:

"And may her memory ever be
A sacred shrine whence men shall see
Her beacon light of truth."

ALL THE HAWKS WERE VALIANT . . .

Pictured above are three of the outgoing seniors of the "Fighting Hawk Machine": James Coley, Willie Wyatt, and Roosevelt Turner.

The memory of their spirit, devotion, and service to athletics here at the college will linger in the minds of all Hawks — past and future — for it is the likes of them that make us successful over the years.

Miss Maryland State for 1958-59

Miss Maryland State accepts the official wand from Student Council President, Lawrence G. Stamps.

Emma Jeannetta Smith wears the crown of Miss Maryland State College, 1958-1959. A native of Virginia, Emma is a graduate of the Northampton County High School, Machipongo. Her hobbies include reading, dancing, and meeting people. Dignified yet radiantly friendly, charming yet modest and unaffected, Emma is one of the most popular queens ever to reign at MSC.

Majoring in Business Education, Emma is a junior whose vocational plans include teaching and private secretarial work. Her social activities include memberships in the Angel Flight, the Yearbook Staff, the Pyramid Club of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, and the Business Club. She is sweetheart of Gamma Xi Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

At her coronation, robed in white satin gown and velvet train of maroon and gray, Miss Maryland State, who "walks in beauty," graciously received the tribute of her fellow students.

The Women's Council holds reception in honor of Miss Maryland State.

THE COMMUNITY DANCING SCHOOL, begun by campus mothers, is now over two years old and numerous attended by children and teen-agers who travel as far as forty miles for once-a-week lessons. Entire school appeared in a major Philadelphia recital.

ALMA MATER

DANIEL LYMAN RIDOUT, SR.

To thee, dear Alma Mater,
We raise our grateful song,
For through thy noble teachings
Thou hast made thy children strong;
And thousands still shall praise thee,
All earth shall hear their swell,
And bind our hearts yet closer
To thee we love so well.

We love thy spacious campus,
We love thy tow'ring halls,
And hallow'd are the lessons
We've learn'd within thy walls.
Stand thou forever glorious,
Full-rob'd in living green;
Shine thou in endless splendor
Beneath thy trees serene.

Refrain

Maryland, Maryland, Home of Maroon and Gray;
Maryland, Maryland, there we love alway.
All hail to thee, fair Maryland,
All glory be to thee!
Grow thou in strength and honor
Through all eternity!

The HAWK staff takes this opportunity to express their pride and appreciation of their being chosen to produce the first yearbook at Maryland State College. Ours has been a thrilling and fruitful experience.

Credit for the achievement of the HAWK goes to many persons but very specially to the administrators, faculty members, and students who gave the facts, sat for their pictures, and in all other possible ways supported the effort. Special appreciation goes to the HAWK's faculty advisers, Mr. Thomas Wiles, Mrs. Mildred Stuart, and Dr. Youra Qualls, who have given much time and thought to the execution of our project.
